

Meanwhile, Dr. Buted, in his message, expressed gratitude to Comm. Adamat and the Board of Regents for approving the said projects as they saw the need and the potential gains for educating the students thru the facilities.

“These have been part and parcel of what I envision the university to become many years ago. I wanted to provide our students the improved notion and version of what other people would say about public schools. I want our students to feel pride and honor donning the banner of the university—a state-run university with facilities at par with prestigious and well-funded private universities,” Dr. Buted explained.

Dr. Buted added that all the nine PSU campuses are in full gear in retrofitting the learning and service facilities in preparation for the conduct of the limited face-to-face classes and announced that its all- systems-go as PSU opens its gates to welcome back students in limited face-to-face class.

Also in attendance during the ceremony were CHED officials, PSU Board of Regents and university officials.
